Lori Babcock

Lori Babcock was serving her tenure at the Santa Ana Zoo. Two days ago, when she was at the zoo, she had seen a bear and started to feel sick. Seeing the transformation of a bear from a big, round, and plump creature to a thin and ragged bear made her feel unwell.

Bart Korsak

Bart Korsak is a retired Board of Directors of the Southern California Zoo and an undercover animal rights activist. He and Forest Babcock enjoy rare and exotic animals and worry about their safety.

Forest Burt

Forest Burt is a noted animal rights activist and a member of the Board of Directors of the Southern California Zoo. He is looking at the Santa Ana Zoo’s population and wonders if there are any tigers there.
